Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 20 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A dry and bright day with the odd shower possible.

Today:
A few sunny spells to start but turning increasingly cloudy in the west through the morning, bringing a few showery outbreaks of rain. Often cloudy into the afternoon, with showery outbreaks at times. Breezy in the west. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Increasingly cloudy through the evening, ahead of a band of heavy rain moving from the west, persisting through the night, reaching eastern counties by dawn. Winds freshening in coastal locations. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Saturday:
Heavy morning rain clearing to sunshine and showers, some heavy, locally torrential, with possible thundery downpours. Somewhat drier across Cornwall later. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Turning drier Sunday with sunny spells and a few showers. Becoming much more settled into next week, with dry conditions and sunny spells. Feeling warm in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.